CEO Message

Dear Colleagues,

We have a vision to be the smartest telco in the world, creating a society of unlimited possibilities, and we believe that 'how' we deliver our vision is equally important as 'what' we are trying to achieve. Our customers, shareholders and other stakeholders should be confident that how we do business does not only comply with legal requirements, but also meets the highest standards of ethics and integrity. We believe this goes hand in hand with delivering a strong and sustainable financial performance.

The purpose of this document is to help each of us understand our responsibilities as representatives of Tele2. We should also not forget that it is our duty to ensure that our business partners such as dealers, consultants, suppliers, vendors and others keep to this code when they represent Tele2.

The Tele2 Way – our values – are unique to us. We are Fearless, Open, Cost Efficient, Reliable and Flexible and that governs the way we operate and behave in our daily work.

Being open and reliable is important to us also in terms of complying with the Code. It is a cornerstone in our commitment to uphold a reputation of honesty and ethical business conduct above anything else.

I hereby ask you to make a personal commitment to uphold the Tele2 Code of Conduct. If you are unsure on what conduct is appropriate, please raise the question with your manager.

This policy has been approved by the Tele2 Board of Directors.

Stockholm November 2020

Kjell Morten Johnsen
President and CEO

Introduction

At Tele2, we believe that the success of the company depends on the success of the societies in which it operates. Sustainable growth in society and sound business practices go hand in hand. In order to maintain a sustainable business model and help build a better society, we have to take responsibility for the impact our operations have on the world around us.

Tele2's requirement is that sound business practices shall prevail throughout our operations and our daily business, which is why Tele2 has chosen to approach corporate responsibility in the same way as we do all our business – the Tele2 Way.

Basis of the code

The code is based on the ten principles provided by the United Nations (UN) Global Compact. For further details please refer to Appendix 1.

Scope of the code

It is important that goods and services handled by Tele2 are produced and provided in an ethical way. Therefore, Tele2 expects this Code to be applied and upheld not only in Tele2 but also in the organisations of every affiliate, supplier, sub-supplier and vendor to Tele2. Regarding some areas of the Code Tele2 has adopted more detailed guidelines, policies and/or standards. These documents form an integrated part of the Code and you will therefore find references to the documents in this Code. The documents can be found on our intranet.

Legal compliance and the code

Tele2 complies with local laws and regulations of each country in which we operate. This Code sets up a minimum requirement. If provisions in other laws, regulations or rules, be it local, national or international, have a more stringent position to the Sustainability matters mentioned in this Code, those shall be observed and complied with. In situations where neither the law nor the Code gives guidance, the UN Global Compact principles shall prevail. In cases of conflict between this Code and a mandatory local regulation, the regulation shall prevail.

Safety of products and services

Tele2 wins customers and builds long-term relationships by providing cost efficient and good quality services. This is done by demonstrating honesty and integrity in all interactions. Our marketing or advertising material, in writing or by employed personnel, shall be accurate, truthful and comply with mandatory laws.

Customer integrity

In the course of its operations, Tele2 has access to customer data for processing and storing. When handling data, Tele2 shall take into account its customers' rights to maintain personal integrity and privacy.

Tele2 complies with applicable laws and regulations on the freedom of speech, the right to privacy and personal integrity as well as on personal data retention. Tele2 will endeavour to prevent any unauthorized access to personal information. Tele2 does not process customers' personal data other than as allowed by applicable legislation. Tele2 should be trusted by customers and employees to handle their data.

If you are unsure of your responsibilities in terms of customer integrity you should familiarize yourself with the specific policies, guidelines and standards that Tele2 has adopted in these areas.

Customer safety

Tele2 actively works to prevent fraud and abuse of its communications services. Therefore, Tele2 offers tools to prevent exposure to unwanted content. We are particularly careful in protecting the safety of children and young adults in this regard.

Exposure to electromagnetic fields

When in use, electric equipment emits radiation and creates electromagnetic fields (EMF). In handling EMF related to its networks, Tele2 follows recommendations made by the relevant authorities. By following these science-based recommendations Tele2 protects people and the environment from unwanted effects of radiation now and in the future.

Suppliers and vendors

Our contractual relationships with suppliers, vendors and dealers are important elements of the company's success. Supplier, vendor selection and purchasing decisions must be made objectively and in Tele2's best interests, striving for the best deal by evaluating costs, requirement fulfilment, expected delivery capability, quality and other relevant factors. Any agreement with a supplier and vendor should be concluded according to Tele2's Purchasing Policy.

Negotiations with suppliers, vendors and dealers should be conducted in a professional manner, engaging Tele2 employees and with the use of the four-eyes principle. Our people must always be sure that business decisions are made without any unjustified influence from a third party. Suppliers and vendors which are proven to attempt to unduly influence Tele2's purchasing decisions will be excluded from any future transaction with the company.

Business integrity

Anti-corruption

No Tele2 employee or member of our Board of Directors may offer, ask, give or accept, directly or indirectly, any undue advantage for personal gain from any third party, unless it can be constituted as being within the boundaries of accepted business practices such as representation and reasonable hospitality given in the ordinary course of business.

As guidance, no single gift or benefit should exceed the value of 50 Euro. When in doubt, employees are expected to read through Tele2's Anti-Corruption policy and other available company guidelines and if needed seek advice from their managers.

In most countries gifts or benefits to government employees or public officials are considered a violation of law or regulation. Tele2 employees must not offer money or any gift to an official or employee of a governmental entity, except for symbolic gifts of insignificant monetary value, provided this is allowed by local law.

Fair competition

Tele2 is firmly committed to fair competition and open markets. One of the foundations for our success has been the break-up of monopoly power. We remain firm believers that free and fair competition works in our favour allowing us to provide expected quality and cost efficient communication services to our customers.

All Tele2 employees are expected to protect the interests of Tele2's final consumers anywhere in the world and to fight against collusive practices and monopoly foreclosures in every aspect of their activities. It therefore goes without saying that Tele2 expects all Tele2 employees to comply with competition laws. Employees who have to deal with competition issues in their day to day work are expected to understand the basic principles of competition law. In case a specific competition law question arises, employees must seek advice from Tele2's Fair Competition Standard and if needed from their general counsel.

Conflict of interest

Business decisions are always made in the best interest of the company. The power invested in us by the company may not be used for other goals than furthering Tele2's interests. Personal relations or considerations may never influence our decision making. This includes not only potential gains for us, but also for our relatives and friends.

To avoid risk of conflict of interest, the following applies:

- Employees may not, without the company's written consent, work outside Tele2 in any capacity (e.g. employment, consultancy, Board membership) if there is any sort of risk for a conflict of interest.
- If there is any risk, however small, for conflict of interest, employees are expected to immediately inform their manager.

A specific aspect of conflict of interest is Insider information. In short, anyone with access to non-public information that is likely to materially influence the price of any financial instruments in Tele2 is prohibited from trading in Tele2 equity. For further information, please see Tele2's Insider Policy. If you are registered as an Insider (PDMR) by Tele2 you will have been notified by Tele2 that you will need to consider special Swedish reporting regulations and Tele2's Internal Insider rules.

Grandparent and “four-eyes” principle

To further limit the risk of conflicting interests and to make sure that business decisions are always made in the best interest of Tele2, all contractual relationships of material significance between the company and a third party (e.g. suppliers, vendors, dealers and partners etc.) need to be negotiated and approved in writing by at least two persons (= four-eyes principle) prior signing of the final agreement. Whenever possible the second person approving the contractual relationship should be the manager of the first approver (grandparent principle). Final agreements shall be approved and signed in accordance with the local legal policy, however never signed by less than by two signatories jointly. In certain cases, as outlined in other policies and guidance, the grandparent principle is mandatory.

For the purpose of this Code material significance shall mean if 1) the procured value (agreement value) is more than 100.000 SEK (or 10.000 EUR), and/or 2) the agreement term is more than three years, and/or 3) more than one country/operation are or might be involved, and/or 4) the procurement or contracts are of strategic importance or imply an important legal or reputational risk to Tele2.

Political involvement

Tele2 observes neutrality with regard to political parties and candidates, and abides with the applicable international treaties and national legislation on lobbying activities.

Financial reporting

Tele2 is required to follow strict accounting principles and standards (IFRS), to report financial information accurately and completely, and to have appropriate internal controls and processes to ensure that accounting and financial reporting complies with legislation. Employees must do everything they can to support Tele2's efforts in this area.

The integrity of Tele2's financial records is critical to the operation of Tele2 business and is a key factor in maintaining the confidence and trust of our shareholders. We must ensure that all transactions are properly recorded, classified and summarized in accordance with Tele2 accounting policies. No employee may enter or remove information in the company's books or records that intentionally hides, misleads or disguises the true nature of any financial or non-financial transaction or result.

Employees involved in financial reporting shall always provide full, fair, accurate, timely and understandable disclosure in reports and documents that Tele2 files with, or submits to, government agencies, tax authorities and in other public communications. Tele2 follows the international guidelines and applies the national regulations relating to transfer pricing. Comments about financial reporting and prospects to external parties shall only be made by authorized official spokespersons.

Corporate Governance

Tele2 strongly believes in transparent and consistent corporate governance practices and abides with the applicable regulations and standards in each of its geographical markets. This protects the legitimate interests of all Tele2's shareholders and stakeholders.

Reporting violations

It is the responsibility of Tele2's managers to make sure that both the content and the spirit of this Code are communicated, understood and acted upon within their organisations and to encourage employees to reveal behaviour that may be non-compliant with the Code. Explicit or implicit approval of questionable actions will not be tolerated.
